The person I admire most is my Dad. I admire him/her most for several reasons.

I admire my dad because when I was born he cared a lot for me and not just leaving it to my mum. As the years went by I grew up to a little boy he took me to anywhere he thinks it would make me happy. He also has a really strict side, when I was in fourth grade I accidentally broke my grandmother's vase. my dad got really angry and said it was my grandmother's favorite vase and I broke it. I got really scared and when my dad dismissed me back to my room I ran and hid under my covers and cried, but later that night he came in and said he's sorry for yelling at me and he thought it over that it was an accident. You see my dad is willing to admit his mistakes and willing to give apologies he is not afraid of doing things wrong he told me if I ever did something wrong don't feel embarrassed just do it again until I succeed. These are the reasons why I admire my dad the most.

Situation:

Write a letter to a friend about your favorite pastime. Tell him or her about the thing you enjoy doing when you have free time. You may begin your letter as follows:

Dear Kyle,

I'm writing this letter to tell you about what I like to do during my free time. You may not know about it because we like things differently and we also live in different cities. My favorite pastime is to put on some relaxing music and pick out a thick and long english novel to read. Besides that I enjoy cooking, I help my mother out a lot on weekends and now I'm a really good cook too. I sometimes turn on the TV to watch some english programs, my favorite program is the national geographic, coming in second is BBC and CNN. What's your favorite pastime? why don't you also write me a letter to find out? I'll always be here feel free to call me after all we're friends and what are friends for?

Yours truly,

Ray

The person I admire most is my mom I admire him/her most for several reasons.

My mom is an industrious businessman and the greatest mom in the world.

She takes me to school every day and starts her work subsequently. She needs to deal with many problems like her customers' indredible demands, her employer's commands, to complete the difficult jobs in time and sometimes even need to communicate with foreign customers.

But even though she is busy working, she still takes good care of me. She insists to make every breakfast for me, take me to school and cram school every day, ask me to drink more water, put my favorite snacks in my bag and give me everything she has. I think her dedication to me is definitely uncountable.

Thus, I admire my mom the most and I want to be a person like her in the future. I'll remember her positive attitude and how much love she gives to me no matter where I am.

Situation:

Write a letter to a friend about your favorite pastime. Tell him or her about the thing you enjoy doing when you have free time. You may begin your letter as follows:

Dear Sharon,

I thought about my favorite pastime yesterday, so I want to share my blissful moment with you by this letter.

When I have leisure time, I would like to go to the traditional market with my mom because I could broaden my horizons by walking and looking around in the market. I saw the hardworking vendors and happy customers, I heard people's yelling in order to get the lower price, I smelled the scent of my favorite snack — the coffee cakes and I chatted with my mom about everything. I really enjoyed the experience and ^{the} atmosphere in the market, because there's the place people can get closer with each others.

According to what I said, I want to invite you to go to the traditional market with me next time. I believe that we can have wonderful time there.

Yours truly,

Roxanne
